MENTOR AFFECT

Research proves the positive, long-term benefits of mentoring. Particularly for youth, a healthy mentoring relationship can be critical to achieving both academic and personal goals. Studies point to increases in confidence and performance as well as decreases in risky behavior in students who are mentored.

- Girls with a mentor are two and half times more likely to be confident in their academic performance.
- Boys with a mentor are three times less likely to suffer peer pressure and anxiety, and two times less likely to develop negative behaviors.
- A mentor increases a student’s likelihood of attending college by 50 percent. Teacher mentorship nearly doubles the odds of a student attending college.
- Youth in a mentor program are 46 percent less likely to use drugs and 27 percent less likely to use alcohol.
- Students who meet regularly with their mentors are 52% less likely than their peers to skip a day of school and 37% less likely to skip a class. Young adults who face an opportunity gap but have a mentor are 55% more likely to be enrolled in college than those who did not have a mentor.

“Allow yourself to give hope, to make a difference, to bring happiness in a child’s life. BE the Future for KIDS!” – Christopher, Mentor
